VIRGINIA REPUBLICANS.-A dispatch from Riehmond says: It was stated here today, on what is believed to be an authentic source, that the national committee has decided not to attempt to carry Virginia for M -Kinley and will not spend any money in this State, as they did in the vain effort of 1896, but will concentrate their efforts on electing three Congressmen in those districts where they have a fair chance. It is likely that nominations will be made in all the districts, but only three will be made with the expectation of success. This is said to be Mr. Hanna's idea, and was reached after consultation with the district committees. The three districts selected are the Second, the Norfolk district, where the contending republican fac-Ninth, where General Jas. A.
